I authorize the Credit Union and any creditor or other organization from whom money is received on my account or to whom money is disbursed on my account to adjust any account of mine in case of erroneous deposits, deductions, transfers, receipts, or withdrawals.

How to find your account number

For a checking account deposit, you have two options:

- Log in to digital banking, select your checking account, then select Account Details. Use the ACH Number listed for your Account Number.
- Use your checking account number printed on the bottom of your check as the account number.

For a savings account deposit, use your member account number as the account number.
