Clearview Federal Credit Union donates to local flood victims

Gift to the Southwestern PA Chapter of the American Red Cross goes to those most in need

Pittsburgh PA, July 11, 2018.....www.clearviewfcu.org Clearview Federal Credit Union (CFCU), a member-based credit union serving 10 southwestern Pennsylvania counties, is making a $10,000 contribution to the Southwestern PA Chapter of the American Red Cross for relief to local families experiencing loss due to the recent flooding. The donation is part of CFCU's ongoing commitment to the communities they serve and is earmarked for the Disaster Relief Program of the Red Cross.

The Pittsburgh region suffered from severe flooding over the past few weeks. In the South Hills, flooding impacted a total of 150 homes, with 50 experiencing major damage, 10 homes were destroyed and 5 were inaccessible. Damage in the North Hills is still presently being assessed.

"Our members are why CFCU is here today," states Ronald R. Celaschi, President and CEO of CFCU. "And when members, neighbors, family and friends are in need, Clearview wants to help. We have been an integral part of the community for 65 years, and now, when our neighbors desperately need help, we are proud to step up. Our donation to the American Red Cross Disaster Relief Program assures that our contribution will go to those most in need right in our own back yard."

The CFCU Board of Directors approved the gift, which represents nearly 25 percent of funds spent on providing relief to the flood victims. This includes community centers to temporarily house families, supplemental assistance to those hardest hit, food, clothing and cleanup, along with referrals for additional support.
